Here at Online Post Production we are committed to providing the best service to our clients whether you are brand new to us or an existing client.

As a company we often find building quotes can lead to a series of back and forth emails, so to aid this situation we've devised a series of questions which will help us understand the requirements of your project that little bit better.

But don't worry if you get stuck, we are always on hand to discuss your project in person.

Offline editing:

- > What did you shoot on?
- > How many hours of rushes do you have?
- > What is the intended duration of your programme?
- > Which program would you like to cut in?

Online editing / Colour grading:

- > What did you cut on?
- > Do we need to perform a conform from tape or file based rushes?
- > What would you like to grade in?
- > What are your deliverables?

Audio mixing:

- > How long is your programme?
- > Do you have an OMFI and DVPAL QuickTime already exported?
- > What are your deliverables?

Voice over recording:

- > Is the voice over recorded to picture or is it a wild recording?
- > Do you have a DVPAL QuickTime of the programme already exported?

Digitising:

- > What format are your assets in?
- > Which piece of software are you planning to edit in?
- > How many hours of footage are needing to be digitised?
